

Stranger in this World

Kakamega Rainforest

Posted: 18 Jun 2012 08:29 AM PDT

Last weekend a group of about 15 students went to Kakamega Rainforest. Some stayed in nice cottages and others of us stayed in the traditional thatched roof huts called bandas.

There were of course beautiful flowers.

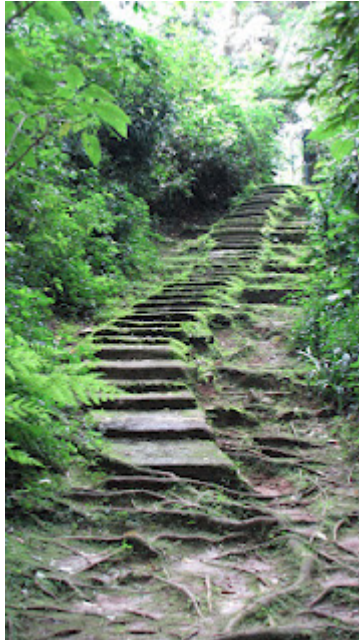

We got lost on our first hike and had to ask directions from some children collecting firewood. It was super muddy! One girl's shoe came off a couple times.

This is a giant caterpillar that I almost put my hand on when trying to avoid a mud puddle.

rain forest shot

one of the cool trails

Kakamega is known for its many birds but I saw very few. However, I saw lots of butterflies and was able to get many pictures of them!

We got up at 4:45am on Sunday to hike up a mountain to see the sunrise but it had rained all night so it was very foggy and we could not see anything.

---

You are subscribed to email updates from Stranger in this World
To stop receiving these emails, you may unsubscribe now.

Email delivery powered by Google

Google Inc., 20 West Kinzie, Chicago IL USA 60610